To my Honoured and much respected Master
M^r John Sturt, ENGRAVER.
Sir

As You have given the World undeniable Testimonies of Your Extraordinary Skill in the Art of Penmanship and Engraving; And as I had the Happiness to receive my first Instructions from YOU; I thought it my Duty (in this Publick Manner) to pay you my grateful Acknowledgments.

Your kind Acceptance, and protection of this First Part of my NEW, and I hope USEFUL UNDERTAKING, will be Esteem'd a particular favour Conferr'd on.

Sir,
Your most Obedient, and most Obliged humble Serv^t

George Bickham.

Immodest Words admit of no defence;
For want of Decency, is want of Sense.

Nothing is a greater Argument of Wisdom, than y^e prudent Management of our Time; and will, upon serious Reflection, produce the greatest Satisfaction. S

Affect rather to be Useful than Popular. ~

Brave Spirits promote the Publick Good. ~

Correction betimes prevents many Crimes. ~

Dissembled Holiness is a double Iniquity. ~

Esteem him who teacheth You Wisdom. ~

Cadmus did first y^e wondrous Art devise,
Of Painting Words, & Speaking to the Eyes;
By various Lines to curious Order brought,
Body & Colours were giv'n unto a Thought.
